

DHS Talent Show

Students showcase their talents

by Zach Donahue

Junior Angeline Couture performing a poem. Photo by Cris Rojo

Dekalb High School hosted its Spring talent show on Friday, May 12th at 6:30 pm. This talent show included 20 participants: 15 on vocals and 5 other talents. The talent show was a huge success. Each participant gave the audience a show to remember.

Junior Jaylen Mason, who performed “Supermarket Flower” by Ed Sheeran, said that he “wanted to shock his friends that didn’t know he could sing.”

He also said “he wasn’t nervous because he knew the people in the crowd and singing is his passion so it came natural to me.” Mason did indeed shock the crowd with his strong performance that left the crowd wanting more.

Senior Lauren Angel sang at the talent show. Angel said, “It feels really good to perform and finally show off talent of mine!” when asked about how it feels about performing in the talent show.

Angel also said, “I always look forward to finally getting to sing in front of people.”

Another performer was sophomore Craig Croslow. He said, “I performed in the talent show because I have fun singing for people and getting out of my comfort zone.”

“What makes me feel excited before I perform is the nerves I get before I go on stage and my friends and family hyping me up before hand. The coolest thing about the talent show is that everyone in it can express something about themselves that other people may not know about them,” continued Croslow.

Juniors Cody Croom and Keion Johnson band performing. Photo by Cris Rojo.

The Spring Talent show was a huge success. Everyone did an amazing job showcasing his or her talents. Also, everyone involved did an amazing job helping set up. We hope that next years talent show lives up to the hype of this years show.